Dear Supporter

The Cornish Buildings Group 'Buildings at Risk Project', supported by Historic England and the Cornwall Heritage Trust, continues to thrive.

Over the past few weeks we have been supporting SAVE as they update their annual 'risk register'; had an annual review meeting with Historic England and we were featured in the Western Morning News 'Race to save Historic Buildings' and Newsletter of Historic Buildings & Places (formerly the Ancient Monuments Society) under the headline 'Highlighting the crucial work of local heritage organisations: the Cornish Buildings Group'.

Here are some guest features from our blog that you may have missed or might like to catch up on.

Nick Jeans on how bats in the roof at Lamorran church change the fortunes of the building for good.

Andrew Ellis on the history of Falmouth Central Methodist Chapel. A building currently under listing review.

Richard G Grylls on our lost heritage - Lewarne, St Neot

Newsletters

No.17 Heritage for sale, enforcement update, Carlyon Farm clay dry,

No.16 Churches at risk, Hotel Bristol, Newquay, Boslowick Inn, Lamb and Flag, North Hill, Restinious Farm

No.15 St day, former Ice Works, Newlyn, Levelling Up, Bicton Manor, Old Brewery Yard
