Notes to editor:

The Tamar Bridge and Torpoint Ferry Joint Committee is a local government committee formed by five councillors from each of the two Joint Authorities, Plymouth City Council and Cornwall Council. A special coalition between these two authorities began in 1950, when together they constructed a bridge across the lower reaches of the Tamar to secure the prosperity of the region. The Joint Authorities also took the opportunity to acquire joint possession of the Torpoint Ferry, at the time owned solely by Cornwall County Council, putting the control of these two vital local crossings of the Tamar together under the control of one governing body.

The Visitor and Learning Centre, Bridging the Tamar, opened in 2019 and showcases the heritage of both the 20th century Tamar Bridge and Brunel's iconic 19th century Royal Albert Bridge.

The Tamar Bridge and Torpoint Ferry remain critical components of the region's transport infrastructure helping to safeguard the economic wellbeing of Plymouth and South East Cornwall.
